The News this Morning

The telegraph recovered itself last evening and furnished us with several days later intelligence, that which was received before 9 o'clock was published in an extra, to meet the anxious demand of our citizens, who could not wait till morning, and the remainder of the dispatch is now in our columns. There has been no more important fighting in Virginia between Grant and Lee—the condition of the roads making any movement of troops almost impossible. Everything, however, looks favorably, and we may confidently expect tidings of another great battle in a very few days. The dispatches contain many items of interest, as our readers will discover on perusing them.

Reciprocal Aid

There has been a constant effort on the part of Northern Democrats, ever since the war begun, to assist the rebels by every possible means, checked only by the fear and the anxious care not to go quite so far as to cause the people utterly to repudiate them. And on their side, the rebels have done all that they could, without endangering their own cause, to strengthen and encourage their northern allies. A late Savannah Republican, condemning the peace speeches in the Georgia Legislature and elsewhere in that State, makes the following confession. "the peace talk is designed to help the northern Democracy, but it is a great mistake." Intelligent friends of the Union have understood very well for a long time, that northern and southern traitors were working together, having the same object in view, but here is an open admission that a deceptive course of action is pursued at the South, solely for the purpose of furnishing capital to the allies of treason in the loyal States, and to enable them by false pretences, to charge the Government with protracting the war, when the South is anxious to have peace! The atrocious wickedness of such a conspiracy against the Nation, will surprise no one who has observed how ready the partners in treason have been, and are, to apologize for, and justify secession, and to make common cause in opposition to the Government and in favor of the rebellion and its infamous purposes.

Another Lick Back.—The Richmond Whig, of late date, concludes an article upon a late speech of Voorhees, of Indiana, in Congress, in this wise

> It would really seem to be time that these "Conservative men" had abandoned all such puerile delusions and admitted the indisputable fact that the South is fighting for independence out of the Yankee Union, and what they call our rights in the Union are precisely what we do not want. It is time they understand that we have waged three years of bitter warfare that we have fought a hundred battles, given up our sons and our brothers to the slaughter, and submitted to the desolation of our homes, the devastation of our fields and the bombardment of our cities not by any means that the end of all should be a new alliance with the Northern Democracy, a recurrence of the intrigues and corruptions of the old Union. It is time that they saw clearly that we wish neither a repetition of the humiliating partisan alliances and conflicts of the past, nor a participation in the Yankee slavery of the present. We have got happily rid of the one and we are determined never to submit to the other.

How long will northern peace traitors persist in their lying declaration that re-union is possible by the consent of the leading traitors, when these traitors continually explode their falsehoods! With any other race of men such persistence and lying would be considered impossible.

Prospect of Steamship Opposition.—We are glad to learn from the Bulletin that the Pacific Mail Company are determined to have a complete line of steamships between San Francisco and New York. For this purpose they have bought the magnificent steamships Baltic and Atlantic which formerly belonged to the Collins Liverpool line. This arrangement will break up the present combination in which Vanderbilt's steamships now form the Atlantic portion of the line, and it is reported that the latter will run a brisk opposition line to San Francisco. Should such prove to be the case, California may expect to add largely to her population, as thousands who would come are now deterred by the comparatively great expense of passage.

More Fighting by Grant's Army

Butler with 60,000 Men Besieging Petersburg and Fort Darling, while a Third Force is marching on Richmond.

Heavy Fighting at Charleston.

Capture of Yazoo City

An official dispatch from Gen Sheridan, dated Bottom's bridge 13th says on the 9th we marched wholly round the enemy's right flank and in the evening reached North Anna river without opposition that night destroyed the enemy's depot and three trains of cars two locomotives [illegible] and other stores destroying 15 000 rebel rations tore up railroad track for ten miles destroyed several culverts and recaptured nearly 400 of our men. On the morning of the 10th resumed the march on this line crossing South Anna capturing Ashland Station destroyed a train of cars and some buildings containing a large amount of Commissary stores several miles of road six culverts trestle bridge etc

About 7 o'clock on the morning of the 11th resumed the march on Richmond and found the rebel General Stewart with cavalry concentrated at Yellow Tavern. Sheridan attacked him and after an obstinate contest gained possession of the Brock Turnpike, capturing the enemy's works near Richmond. During the night Sheridan marched the whole of his command between the first and second line of works on the bluff overlooking the Virginia Central railroad and the Mechanicsville turnpike. Finding the works very formidable he gave up his intention of assaulting them. He then determined to cross the Chickahominy at Meadow Bridge which had been partially destroyed by the enemy, but which was repaired in 11 hours under heavy fire from the rebel batteries. After crossing Gen Merrill attacked the enemy with his cavalry and drove him off pursuing as far as Gaines Mills.

The enemy observing our recrossing the Chickahominy came out of their second line of works in considerable force and attacked the division under Gregg and Wilson after a severe contest they were repulsed and driven back to their works. These divisions after collecting recrossed the Chickahominy. Our loss in horses will not exceed 100. All our wounded were brought off except about 30 mostly wounded who were left at a farm house. Our total loss is about 350. Value of property destroyed by Sheridan is $10,000 000

Washington May 15—Official dispatches from the battlefield dated near Spottsylvania Court House 6 30 A M Saturday says:

During Friday night the 6th corps was moved to our left and an attack was to have been made at daylight

This movement it is said, if successful, would place our forces in Lee's rear, and compel him to retreat towards Lynchburg

No firing had been heard which affords grounds to infer that Lee had retreated during Friday night before the 5th and 6th corps advanced. We have nothing later than 6 30 A M. Sheridan's command had reached the left bank of Turkey Island, at 3 o'clock yesterday, and formed a Junction with Butler

[Signed] STANTON

An exchange of prisoners has been agreed upon, according to the terms of Commissioner Ould

Oxfield, Va, May 16 6 o'clock, P M—Lee is now on the right bank of the river in the rear of Spottsylvania.

Grant's strategy has thus far bewildered Lee. Grant has steadily moved his entire army by corps, by flanks from the Wilderness to this point and acted offensively during the whole time. For eight or ten miles southeast of this point, the country can easily be defended

Lee erected substantial outworks last year which now mount heavy guns, and are between the Po river and South Anna, about one mile south of Spottsylvania

Washington, May 16.—The World's special dispatch says

It was ascertained on the 14th that Lee did not continue to retreat on Friday, but was apparently making preparations to stand another battle

A special to the Times says that the latest from official sources up to the 15th, says that on Saturday evening, just before dark, the rebels made an attack on the position occupied by the 6th corps, principally with artillery, but were driven back with severe loss. The cannonading was furious for several hours. We lost a number of valuable officers, and 300 or 400 killed and wounded. After the repulse of the rebels, a division of the 5th corps made a charge on the enemy's position, and is reported to have captured a battery and some prisoners. Lee's forces are believed to be in line of battle three miles beyond Spottsylvania Court House in a south easterly direction. Several important changes have been made in several of our army corps. Grant will bring to bear a superior force on all sides. Fresh troops are constantly arriving. A general assault would have been made on the enemy's right but owing to the condition of the roads which were rendered almost impassable by the late storm, a portion of our army failed to get into position consequently the attack was abandoned. The impression prevails at headquarters that there would be a hard fight on this side of North Anna river. Lee has massed his forces, and will give battle as soon as we advance. His army, according to the statement of prisoners captured, is on quarter rations without hope of receiving any supplies from Richmond or Lynchburg

The World's special from Fredericksburg, the 15th, says

There was no battle fought on Friday, but there was slight skirmishing during the day, and a considerable portion of the night and the enemy were gradually [illegible] from the position then the left to a position near their base of supplies but we are pressing him so closely, that if he were to weaken his front materially, it would be at great risk. Our line was determined on Friday night and before daylight, the 14th, our troops commenced to advance. Notwithstanding all the efforts and trying efforts of the past eight days, our men accomplished an advance with alacrity

The World's special from Washington says: The loss in killed and wounded has been almost made good by reinforcements which have reached the Army of the Potomac. Troops have been passing through this city from the West—not less than 20 000 having passed during the week

The latest news from Grant is up to 8 30 Sunday morning. Nothing of any importance had occurred. Reinforcements were constantly arriving

No later news than Sunday's dispatches from Butler

Washington May 16—Dispatches from Grant to 8 A M state that offensive movements are postponed until the roads become passable. The two armies are now concentrated on the main road from Fredericksburg to Richmond

Sherman after two days hard fighting forced Johnston to evacuate Dalton

The latest reports from Butler state that he was battering against Fort Darling

(Signed) STANTON

Fortress Monroe, May 16—At daylight on the 14th Burnham's brigade charged on the enemy's outer works at Proctor's Creek and carried the entire line. At 10 o'clock our batteries opened on the enemy who had fallen back to his line of heavy earthworks near Fort Darling. The enemy replied briskly until 2 o'clock when their guns were silenced. Our loss 1 500. At 4 o'clock a shell exploded in the magazine at Fort Darling

Proctor's Creek Va May 15—At noon the enemy came out of his fortifications and attacked Hickman's brigade. The fight lasted till 3 o'clock when the enemy was driven back towards his works. Sharpshooting continued along the line until the rebel artillery was kept silenced. At nine o'clock last evening the enemy advanced upon our lines near Petersburg. A short engagement ensued which resulted in the enemy being driven to his front works

Philadelphia May 16th—A special says A surgeon of the 1 [illegible] New York regiment captured in the 3d day's battle and subsequently paroled has arrived at Washington and reports that Longstreet's wound is not mortal but is serious as to unfit him for active duty for some time. There are no indications of the rebels giving up yet. The report that Lee was wounded is contradicted by the same informant who says that the private rebels only seem to exasperate [illegible] and they are kept up by the hope of exhausting us and compelling us to abandon the contest

Bermuda Hundred May 16th—The rebel iron clad Richmond came down last night and opened fire on the fleet. The monitors drove her back

The Richmond Dispatch of the 15th says: The funeral of Gen J E B Stewart occurred on the 13th

The same paper says the enemy have taken the road leading to Hanover Court House. The telegraph wires leading to Lee's army are cut and the intelligence is received by other means

The following is the latest from the front. The enemy came out of their breastworks at daylight and attacked our right wing. Our artillery opened and drove them back to their fortifications. Our loss was slight—the men being under cover

New York May 17th—The World's [illegible] large reinforcements have been sent forward to Butler and his force amounts to 60 000. Butler has [illegible] [illegible] One portion are watching Petersburg and keeping the rebel troops there [illegible] other is besieging Fort Darling. A third force larger than the other is marching on Richmond

Prominent officers predict that [illegible] be [illegible] by the 18th. In addition to this [illegible] must be added Sheridan's cavalry which was expected to render good assistance. Butler has [illegible] Kurtz's force which has cut off the Danville Railroad

The World's special says persons from Richmond [illegible] the 8th report there was much speculation on Lee's retreat. People however seemed confident that the fortifications would be successfully defended

The garrison in Richmond was about [illegible] 000 but could be increased to double that number in a few hours. Soldiers were coming from all parts, but principally from North and South Carolina

The Herald's special says the second corps lost 500 killed, 7 000 wounded and 1 000 missing. The sixth corps lost 1 000 killed 6 000 wounded and 1 000 missing. Burnside's loss is about in the same proportion

The special to the Times, dated Headquarters, May 15th, 2 o'clock P M says the enemy continues strengthening his works. It is expected however a vigorous flank movement will compel an evacuation

Yesterday the rebels on the left coming through the woods gobbled up several of our pickets and drove back the reserves

Generals Meade and Wright with their staffs were out beyond the front at this time and had an extremely narrow escape from capture. Immediately after, Wright threw out forces under cover of the artillery and retook the position which was an important one

Washington, May 16—Intelligence from Resaca Ga, to 11 o'clock last night, had been received. Two lines of the enemy's works had been stormed. Sherman is reported to have captured a wagon train and two guns and whipped Early. STANTON

Dispatches from Sherman say they had a fight yesterday, at Resaca and was successful. Sherman says that as near as he can figure our losses are 3,000 killed, wounded and missing. Everything is progressing favorably

New York May 17—The Herald's special dated Nashville yesterday has the following: McPherson captured on the 13th nine Railroad trains below Resaca loaded with various military stores for Dalton. The enemy seems to be making preparations to evacuate from advantages that have been gained. Hopes are entertained that Sherman's speedy success will keep pace with operations in Virginia

Chicago May 16th—Later advices from Red river confirm former reports and state that the rebels have two batteries on Watson's plantations of 28 guns, and another on Scroggy Point mounting 18 guns

Memphis May 14th—Little Rock advices of the 12th report that Steele was confident of maintaining his line of works. Kirby Smith was menacing Pine Bluff in strong force but the place was well fortified

St Louis May 17th—Vicksburg dates to the 10th say the expedition under Gen McArthur captured Yazoo City with but little resistance. Raids by rebels on plantations continued with the most fiendish brutality ever committed

Later advices from Alexandria indicate that Gen A J Smith will be compelled to march overland to the Mississippi river, fighting his way out

It is reported that Forest and Rodde with 10,000 rebels are threatening Huntsville. General W. G. Smith in command of the place has ordered the citizens to work in the fortifications

New York May 17th—The steamer Fulton from Port Royal has arrived. Gen Gordon has been ordered to Florida to relieve Gen Birney

An armed transport had been blown up by a torpedo in the St Johns river. Three were killed and a large number wounded, several severely

The Fulton reports that when off Charleston Bar on the 14th, a general engagement was going on between our fleet under Dahlgren, and the rebel forts and battery on James' Island. All the Monitors appeared to be engaged, and also the new Ironsides. The contest was spirited, and seemed to be general.

FURTHER INTELLIGENCE.

New York May 18—The Herald's special dispatch from Headquarters Army of the Potomac says The 3d division of the 5th corps, commanded by Birney was ordered to fall back from its position on the right flank of our line. Birney had scarcely left his position when the enemy advanced with the intention of gaining possession of the advantageous position just vacated. Birney was then ordered back and retook the position after a short contest, with a loss of 165 killed and wounded. About 3 P M the batteries on our right threw shells into the enemy's works in front of them. A sharp skirmish took place between the pickets, which soon subsided. Since then an almost unbroken silence has reigned in the army. Lee had taken advantage of the respite given him to strengthen his lines still more strongly in a strong posion. An order was read to our troops announcing the arrival of reinforcements.

Our baggage and supply trains which have been lying on the plank road near Chancellorsville for several days have been sent to Fredericksburg

A surgeon left in charge of the hospital at the Wilderness Tavern battle field, reports the capture of 500 of our wounded and their transportation to the rebel lines

Reinforcements are arriving and the roads are improving. A movement is soon expected

Gravelly Bridge Western Virginia, May 17—A courier arrived this morning from Gen J. W. Crooke who has fought three battles near Newborn, on the Virginia and Tennessee railroad, 90 miles from Lynchburg with the rebel forces under Jones and Jenkins, gaining a complete victory over the enemy. The rebel loss in killed and wounded was heavy, and they lost 300 prisoners. General Jenkins fell into our hands mortally wounded. The large railroad bridge at Newbern and several miles of the track were destroyed. Crooke is at Newbern

Washington, May 18 8 o'clock P M—No report of operations of the Army of the Potomac since the last dispatch. It is said roads are improving.

Grant designed to move against the enemy without delay

It is the design of Government to keep up the National forces until the rebellion is crushed, and in order to provide against a reduction when the service of the 100 days men is out a draft will be ordered to take place on the 1st of July, by which time new enrollments will be completed

New York May 18—The World's special dispatch says Grant's reinforcements number 20,000. Indications are that he will avoid another battle at Spottsylvania, and by a flank movement push toward Richmond. Lee is moving his right, evidently anticipating such a design

Lee is declared to be depriving other points of rebeldom of troops to check Grant, and will contend every inch

New York, May 18—The Herald's correspondent writing from Chester Junction, Va the 14th, gives an account of the advance of our forces under Smith and Gilmore upon Richmond. He says the manœuvre was executed which placed our men more in position to flank and take the line of rebel entrenchments stretching from the West Richmond and Petersburg Railroad to James river. The second line, in which the rebels retreated was next day attacked and found to be much stronger, but finally carried by storm. The rebels were driven into the enclosed works on the left. It was expected [illegible] would easily be dislodged from his position, when it was believed that our forces would be west of all the fortifications with a clear road to Richmond, only eight miles off

The Petersburg papers are quite despondent yet claim a victory with the loss of five Brigadier Generals and forty Colonels admitted indicating a large loss of enlisted men

General Beauregard, it is stated had by a shrewd strategy got his forces by ours and went to Richmond and perhaps to Lee

Washington, May 17—Dispatches from Gen Butler reports the success of the expedition under General Kurtz, cutting off the Danville railroad and destroying the bridge on the Appomattox river

On Tuesday the 16th, the rebels under cover of a thick fog made an attack on Smith's lines and forced them back with confusion and considerable loss. As soon as the fog lifted Smith restored his lines and the enemy were driven back to his original lines. At the same time the enemy made an attack from Petersburg on Butler's forces guarding the rear, but were handsomely repulsed. Our troops having been on incessant duty for five days, But er retired leisurely within his own lines. We hold the railroad between Petersburg and Richmond.

Dispatches from Sigel received this evening report that on the 15th he fought the forces of Imboden under Breckinridge at New Market Shenandoah Valley. The enemy's forces were in superior numbers and he gradually withdrew and recrossed the Shenandoah [illegible] pieces of artillery and about 600 killed and wounded and prisoners [illegible] bringing off his trains and wounded. He states that in consequence of the long lines of trains which he had to guard he could not bring more than six regiments into the fight besides his artillery and cavalry. The enemy had about 2 000 infantry besides other arms. Sigel says his retrograde movement to Strasburg was effected in perfect order without loss

Washington May 18—Dispatches from Sherman report his [illegible] [illegible] progressing to his satisfaction. He says supplies are abundant. [illegible] improving on the [illegible] and [illegible] good [illegible]

New York May 18—Gen McDowell leaves to day for San Francisco

It is [illegible] asserted by leading Congressmen and friends of the Administration that it has determined to [illegible] 300 000 more troops

The New Presbyterian Church.—The commodious and elegant edifice, erected by the Presbyterian Society at the corner of Washington and Third streets, in this City, is now completed, and will be dedicated to the worship of Almighty God, to-morrow morning, by appropriate services. A sermon will be preached by the Rev Geo. H. Atkinson, of the Congregational Church in this city and the other exercises will be conducted by Rev P S Caffrey, Pastor of the Church

We have already alluded to this beautiful structure, which is now an especial ornament to our city, and need not repeat our report of its dimensions. Many unfavorable circumstances have conspired to cause more delay in its completion, than was anticipated when the building was commenced, but patience and perseverance have removed all difficulties, and the Society may well congratulate itself on the final accomplishment of its ardent hopes

The interior of the Church is admirably arranged and finished. There are seventy pews, in four rows arranged on lines slightly curved. They are all over comfortably cushioned, and will accommodate an audience of over four hundred. The whole floor is handsomely carpeted as well as the pulpit platform, which is raised about three feet from the floor. An elegant sofa made in the Elizabethan style, is to be placed in the recess behind the desk, which will add greatly to the elegance of that part of the Church

The gallery for the choir is very conveniently arranged, in its rear and in the alcove, formed by the main chamber of the tower, is the organ, which, though not in perfect order will be used in the musical service to-morrow

The ornamental finish of the ceiling is exceedingly chaste and appropriate indeed, there is nothing, that we noticed about the interior of the church, which can fail to meet the approbation of the most strict or refined taste

We understand that the whole cost of the church, including the price of the land, has been $20,000. Of this sum, $3,500 was furnished by the ladies of the Society, who paid for the land and provided the cushions and carpets. Mrs H. W Corbett presented the fine toned bell, costing about $600, and Mrs D F Bradford furnishes the sofa for the pulpit

The appraisal of the pews has been made at rent prices, ranging from fifteen to one hundred dollars per annum. On Monday forenoon the church will be open for inspection, and those who wish for seats will find the rates upon a card in each pew. At two o'clock P M, the privilege of occupying the pews will be sold at auction, and it is expected that each purchaser will pay his bid and the rent quarterly in advance. The annual income will probably amount to about $2000. We sincerely trust that the Society that has supplied itself with a church so admirably adapted to its wants, which is also a most desirable addition to our city, may find it "none other than the House of God and the Gate of Heaven" that Peace may ever be within its walls, and prosperity long continue to bless it, as the earthly temple of the ever living Deity

Jaundice.—This yellow coloration of the skin is characteristic of an increased secretion of bile, or of its passage into the blood in consequence of some obstruction in the circulation of the liver. Being itself but a symptom the cause must be attacked in the central diseased organ and ample experience proves that the PERUVIAN SYRUP acts in a wonderful manner in stimulating the liver to the proper performance of its duty

The Streets.—Our attention is repeatedly called to the bad condition of the different streets, and we are often requested to notice such and such a particular hole, where accidents have occurred, and which are absolutely nuisances, but while the Council are actively interested in behalf of the best interests of the city, comment is unnecessary upon those subjects. At their last meeting the City Attorney and the Judiciary Committee were required to draft a new charter for the city which it is hoped will be adopted by the legislature early, at its session in September, so that we may receive some benefit from its provisions this fall. In the meantime the Street Commissioner will do all that is possible for him to do, under the circumstances, in the way of improvements on the street. The different corners, lines, and grades are now being permanently fixed by the city Surveyor, by authority of the Council, and all taken together we think the streets stand a fair prospect of receiving considerable attention before long. We are glad of it, and only hope there may be no worse obstacles thrown in the way than the heaps of trash that must follow in the paths of reconstruction

Mining Prospects on Jordan Creek.—A private letter from Owyhee, dated May 1st contains the following: "The miners are just getting to work on Jordan Creek, and every one expects to see money plenty in a few days, as the creek is generally believed to be rich. Men are at work some fourteen or fifteen miles along the creek, and in many of the gulches that are tributary to it. New discoveries of quartz ledges still continue, and if only a portion of them prove as rich as some only partially developed, Owyhee must certainly prove itself the richest camp on the Pacific Coast

Rioting.—Charles Stewart has been serving a term in the Penitentiary, which expired on Thursday last, and his liberation was made the occasion for a big spree, which ended in a row, for which he was arrested by Marshal Hoyt, and locked up. He is reported as being a desperate fellow, requiring considerable force to arrest. He was brought before Recorder McCoy, and after being tried was sent to the County Jail for safe keeping, for twenty days

The Jenny Jones.—The schooner Jenny Jones was taken up to the foot of Oak street yesterday, and her freight will be discharged to day at A B Richardson's warehouse. The pig iron which she brings has traveled a long way from where it was first smelted, to be worked up, having been made in Scotland. The injury to the vessel is not so much as was at first expected, but she is pretty badly damaged, and repairs are necessary before she can return

Sunday Excursions.—For several weeks past Sunday excursions have been indulged in pretty freely, and one steamer has been in active demand to carry excursionists as regular as the day come about, but to-morrow four steamers are advertised to run on excursions. The Express could not bear to see the steamer Cowlitz run to the Willamette Salt Wells unattended, so she will accompany her on the route, and "regulate prices." The Rescue will also have a Rival to accompany her to Oregon City. "Opposition is the life of trade." Go it!

School Exhibition.—There will be an exhibition at the close of the present term of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary, which will be devoted to the aid of the Sanitary cause, and fees for admission will be taken. The students of the Institution have already commenced a review of their studies during the term, and this exhibition is quite likely to be as successful as past ones have been, under the same management.

Changing About.—The water in the river has reached such a stage as to drive most of the business away from its ordinary channels along the wharves, and freight and passengers will be taken on and off at the next dock, higher up, until the water subsides. It was with difficulty that wagons were loaded on the New World last evening, at the usual slip

Dead Dogs.—Among the bills allowed by the Common Council on Thursday evening was one of $1 50, "for dragging a dead dog out of the city." It occurs to us that there are altogether too many dogs in Portland, and it would be a good thing for the city if they could taxed, and the owners made to pay a portion of the city's expenses, or lose their dorgs

A Difference.—An altercation occurred between two up town merchants yesterday, in consequence of a slight difference about the price of meat. It was finally decided a la Hyer. The farmer who owned the meat looked on posingly, evidently thinking it was a queer way to decide the price of his product

Another Quartz Mill.—Another 5-stamp quartz mill for the Boise region, has been commenced at the Oregon Iron Works in this city. This mill is of the same dimensions as the previous ones manufactured by Jones & Company, and will be much more speedily constructed having the patterns to begin with

Church Services.—There will be no morning service at the Congregational Church to-morrow in consequence of a postponement, to assist in the dedication of the new edifice of the Presbyterian Society.

Treasure.—The amount of treasure received by Express from the upper country for the past two days is $37 000. A larger amount has arrived in the hands of passengers, much of which was merchant's collections

The top mast of the flag-staff of Fire Engine Company No. 1, was being hoisted to its place yesterday. It is generally "housed" in the fall of the year, to prevent its blowing away in winter

The Officers at Ft Vancouver gave a ball on Thursday evening, in honor of Major Winston, who is soon to take his departure for the East

The schooner Monitor was discharging her cargo of coal at the Gas Works yesterday

MARKET REPORT AND REVIEW

PORTLAND Friday May 20th—2 P M

The Portland market has been rather inactive for the week past and there has been little demand for produce of any kind Large amounts of bacon have been received by the commission merchants which is held subject to order Flour is quite dull, and we have few sales to note—former prices have been maintained

Wheat has advanced and the ruling figures in all kinds of grains are above the average quotations of last week Buyers are offering $1 for wheat and 67 cts for oats Bran and shorts are selling at $20 per ton Middlings are retailed at $30 per ton

Hay is inactive at the present prices $15 per ton for loose and $20 per ton for baled being offered to-day

There are but few changes in the prices of domestic produce Apples are very scarce and prices have advanced Sugars have advanced

Men Wanted.

Men for To-Day's hard toil and battle!
 Knights were well in the feudal days;
Kings, when the people were dumb as cattle;
 Priests, when a lie was a means of grace;
Dancing-masters, when morals were dinners;
 Schemers in silk, when the sword was a pen;
But now, when God lifts up his banners
 And war clangs fierce,—send us men! send us men!

O contemptible tailor's dummy,—
 Dupe and noodle and snob and quack,—
Stale old fossil and breathing mummy,—
 Politician and party hack,—
Fool of fashion and tool of barter,—
 Living to cheat and be cheated again,—
Drawler of cant and counterfeit martyr,
 Out and begone with you! send us some men

Send us men for the desk and the altar,—
 Men who are fearless of councils and bans,—
Never with righteousness daring to palter,—
 Orthodox, rather in God's sight than man's;
Men who assume no clerical mastership,
 Being men's servants and God's honest freemen,
Knowing that lordship agrees not with pastorship,—
 Men whose first study is always to be men.

Send us men for the public stations,
 Loyal and honest and brave and wise;
Thoughtful beyond their pay and their rations;
 Parleying never with traitors and spies;
Men whose works and promises tally;
 Men who build upon principles grand;
Learning of Christ, not of Machiavelli,
 What to enact, and how to command.

Send us men for the private places,—
 Tradesmen and craftsmen and tillers of sod,
Men with sympathies larger as the race is,—
 Loyal to fatherland, freedom and God;
Loyal in spite of high taxes and prices;
 Lavishing life, kindred, fortune,—all these,—
Rather than sell in humanity's crisis,
 Liberty's birthright for pottage of peace!

A JANUARY STAGE RIDE—AN AFFECTING INCIDENT.—A correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat gives his experience in a trip by stage from Sedalia to Springfield, Mo., during the recent cold term. The distance is one hundred and twenty-six miles, and the ordinary time thirty-six hours. When the coach left Sedalia, the thermometer stood at fourteen degrees below zero. The sufferings of passengers, drivers, and animals were intense. We extract a single incident of the trip.

At the different houses where we stopped,—and we stopped at nearly every one on the road—the inmates—men, women and children—were huddled about the chimney corner, discussing only one thing—the cold. The second night out was equally as cold as the first, and the first was as cold as charity. My companions in the cold remained with me until eight o'clock of the second night—so the driver told me; for when I awoke, at 10 o'clock, from a cold doze into which I had fallen about seven P. M., I found them gone. I was not long alone, however, when the stage halted at a house about nineteen miles from Bolivar, when a lady and child took passage for the latter.

She was plainly but comfortably clad, and in conversation I found her possessed of no mean intellect. She had received word that her husband, who was in the army, was dangerously ill at Bolivar, and thither she was going. Every few miles we stopped to warm, and at each place, until within about five miles of her destination, the mother took the babe, an infant of fifteen months, into the different houses, it was nearly four o'clock in the morning, when we were within five miles of Bolivar, when the stage drew up at a rude cabin, where the driver informed us we could get warm, and that we could not halt again before reaching town.

I got out and assisted the lady to alight. When we entered the domicile I noticed she was not carrying the child, and asked her where it was. "I have wrapped it up and laid it on the seat, as I was afraid if the wind blew on it, it might catch cold," was her reply. I told her that she had better bring it in, as it would certainly freeze. She said, "No, it is warm and will sleep." We remained in the house half an hour, and re-entered the stage. The baby was still lying on the seat, and the mother, after picking him up, remarked, "He is asleep yet."

Not a whimper, not a cry proceeded from that child during the remainder of that trip. The wind moaned piteously. Closely the mother nestled her babe to her bosom. We reached Bolivar before it was yet day, cold, chilled almost beyond the endurance of nature. I went into the tavern accompanied by the mother and child. Walking up the lane the mother said to me, "Did you ever see such a good baby? he hasn't cried to-night." It was an hour before the fire was made, no one being out of bed when we went in.

You have often seen—perhaps you have been a party to it yourself—persons on a cold day, on entering a room, congregate and remain around a stove where there was no fire, and as is usual in such cases, almost the coldest place in the room. So it was with us; we drew chairs to the cold fire place and awaited the kindling, which in time followed. The fire was lighted, and soon gave out a graceful offering of heat. The child remained wrapped up; it was quiet. His mother repeated, "He is asleep yet." He was asleep—"he is asleep yet,"—the child was frozen to death, and in this world, "he is asleep yet." Death spared him the colds of earth—he was frozen into Paradise.

Consternation in a Respectable Family.

We regret to say that through the blundering of a country cousin, one of the first families in Boston was recently thrown into a state of consternation and indignation, which it is impossible to describe. For a while serious consequences were apprehended, but after proper restoratives were applied and explanations made, the family were enabled to eat their meals with the accustomed regularity and relish. The misunderstanding was caused in a singular manner, and can, in a measure, be attributed to the number of military heroes who infest the city.

It seems that the cousin who caused the trouble is a native of Vermont, and now on a visit to an uncle in this city. One evening during the recent spell of cold weather, the only daughter of the house, a lady of seventeen, whose delicacy is a part of her nature, and whose mind was entirely above earthly things, with the exception of the opera, new dresses and a carriage, remarked one evening in the presence of her cousin and her family, without a word of warning, that she was fearful of freezing if she went to bed.

Her mother was about to utter some expression of consolation, when the cousin (rude that he was) remarked in a loud tone, so loud that every one heard him: "Why don't you take a Major to bed with you?"

There was a faint shriek, and Henrietta was observed to fall senseless on the plush sofa. Her position was noted, however, for its grace and the careful manner in which her crinoline was adjusted.

"Wretch!" cried the father, "you have murdered my daughter with your vulgarity."

"Monster!" exclaimed the mother, "how could you? and such delicate nerves as she has, too."

"I swow," yelled the Vermonter, with a doleful look. "I did n't mean ——"

"Silence, sir!" cried the brother, who had attempted to obtain a commission as brigadier general and failed, only because he once belonged to a home guard, and knew, therefore too much about military affairs.

"Darn it, won't you ——"

"No, sir!" cried the enraged parents. "A man that recommends my daughter to ——"

"But I did n't mean it—" screamed the Yankee, but no attention was paid to his words.

"She revives—she revives—the shock has not killed her," the doting mother said, bending over her child and kissing her.

"It was a cruel blow, but you must bear up, darling."

"Darnation, won't somebody listen to me!" cried the perplexed Vermonter. "I don't mean that Hen. should sleep with a real live Major—one of them malicious officers. In course I did n't. I wanted her to do as our gals do cold nights. They heat bricks and put to their feet, and up in our parts the gals call 'em majors. That's what I mean, and what's the use of a fuss about it? that's what I want to know."

"It seems that we are laboring under a mistake," said the head of the family; "but when there are young ladies in the room I don't think I'd mention such things. The young ladies of the city are too delicate for such vulgar names."

The Vermonter promised to be more careful in future, and the family are doing well.

Church uv the New Dispensashun, }
Feb. the 10th, '64. }

The old Dimocrisy hez lost its ansheont sperit. I know not why, but a gloomy forebodin ez to our fucher hez hed posseshun uv my sole fer sevral weeks past. I notist that the farmers belonging to my flock wuz a savin up greenbax and hed quit callin uv em rags—nenny refoozed to contribit to the Vallandygum fund, and the colleckshun fer the benefit uv the confedrit prizners at Jonson's Iland wuz a totle faleyour, in consequens uv wich I am a doing without a overkote this cold wether, wich is uncleriklo. And wus than this—I hev heard, resently, members uv the kongregashun discussin the skarsity uv labor, and I actoolly heard wun uv em dam Geff. Davis, instid uv Linkin! I felt that suthin must be don, and I set abowt to do it.

I hed bin prechin considable on the subgik uv a nigger imigrashen; and ez the dislike uv the nigger is cronic in the Dimocratic mind, I thot I wood stir em up with the nigger onct more. So I blackd myself all over, and putin on a soot uv old cloze, I startid out afore da-lite, pintin fur Square Gavitt's who alluz wuz a invetrit hater uv the nigger. The old man saw me a commin, and I spected nothin less than a bullit thru me, but for the grate coz I hed determind to resk even that. But to mi horror the Square sed good mornin, and askt wher I wuz frum. I told him I wuz a runaway slaiv frum Virginny, that 32,000 startid the same day I did, and that the rest wood be along in a da ur 2. I spozed he wood bile at this, but he did n't. He puld from his brest pokit, the familyer old bottel, and invited me to taik hold, wich I did, wondrin why he wuz so plesent to a nigger. Alas fer Dimocrisy, I soon found out. HE WANTED 2 HIRE ME to work for him; Ez the words fell from his lips I well-nigh fainted, but my consternashun wuz re-dubbled when he askt me if I coodent git him 3 er 4 more kulerd men! "Kulerd MEN!" thot I in agony, O wat a softnin down from the "Nigger" uv a yere ago!

Sadly I retraced my steps. Washin off mi disgise I felt, for the fust time in my life utterly and entirely retched. Wen Dimocrats git to callin niggers "kulered men," and want em to work beside em, and drink out uv the same bottle with em, wat better air they than Ablishnists? The fucher uv the Dimocrisy is indeed dark and gloomy. We can't move the the peeple ez we uzt 2. They pay the taxis, and say they aint so heavy after all. They her diskiverd thet Guverment munny isn't wuthless—they won't tork eny more about resisting the draft, on the contrary they air rasin munny to send Dimocrats into the army, wich alloz cums back fantin Ablishnists, a nokin down pesse men and forsin em to taik the oath. Farmers endoor the hi prices of projuice with a pashense and ekanimity wonderful to behold. Yisterday Bill Sipes sold his sorril mare fer $150, and insistid on hevin his pay awl in greenbax. I warnd Wilyum uv the risk he wus runnin in keepin so much uv that stuff, when he imperdently exclaimed, "Stuff! hey! Old Nosey that's played out."

"Old Nosey." "Played out." This to his spiritooal father! his paster and gide! Whair air we driftin?

Wat we are to do to stem the tide that is settin agin us is more than I know. A good decisiv confedrit victry would help us, but alas, I see no probability uv that. It's 2 lait to talk uv compromise, fer there hardly enuff left uv the Sowth to compermise with.—I'm sick. I'm sorry I supportid Vallandygum. I wish I hed bin a war man. My congregashen is gittin look-warm and don't pay their qwarterage reglar, and the grosry keepers air intimation that before long I must begin to pay fer my licker! Wen will it end?

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN; and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M D, IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 5, 1856, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr. H. Anders & Co, Physicians and Chemists, New York.

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutricious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure for the maladies above-mentioned, and also

MEDICAL WONDER

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition
